

Spring 2021 OIMB Seminar Series
Oregon Institute of Marine Biology Charleston OR
Zoom seminar series 1pm Fridays
1 special seminar (9am April 20)

Contact Richard Emlet (remlet@uoregon.edu) to request zoom
information and password (24 h notice)

- April 2 Dr. Tobias Policha, University of Oregon
"A brood-site mimic offers other rewards to pollinators. Natural history of tropical Dracula orchids"
- April 9 Dr. Rachel Collin, Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute
"The impacts of environmental conditions across the complex life-cycles of tropical marine invertebrates"
- April 16 Dr. Alyssa Gehman, University of British Columbia
"Marine disease ecology in a changing environment"
- April 20
9am Dr. Carlos Duarte, King Abdullah University of Science and Technology
"Reversing the loss of coastal habitats"
*Tuesday 9am Seminar
- April 23 Dr. Peter von Dassow, Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile
"Looking at phytoplankton evolution and adaptation from the natural labs of the Southeast Pacific"
- April 30 no seminar this week
- May 7 Dr. Kevin Du Clos, University of Oregon
"Biomechanics of swimming by diverse marine organisms"
- May 14 Dr. Paula Pappalardo, Smithsonian Museum of Natural History
"The role of larval development in the present and future distributions of marine invertebrates"
- My 21 Dr. Eliza Heery, Smithsonian Institution and University of Washington
"Form and function in urban marine ecosystems"
- May 28 Dr. Katie Thomas, The Natural History Museum, London
"Vision and camouflage in the deep ocean"
- June 4 Dr. Richard Emlet, OIMB, University of Oregon
"The sea urchin larvome: shapeshifting larvae and rough-n-ready juveniles"

